

Cost of Zinc-Aluminum-Magnesium Cable Trays

AI Overview

Zinc-Aluminum-Magnesium cable trays typically range from $0.80 to $76 per meter depending on specifications, volume, and supplier, with factory-direct and OEM options offering the most competitive pricing. Estimated Pricing For industrial and construction applications, ZAM cable trays are priced based on material thickness, tray type (ladder, perforated, or channel), load capacity, and surface finishing. General market ranges include: B2B bulk pricing: $0.80 to over $76 per meter, depending on size, load rating, and customization. Factory-direct or OEM options: Often cheaper than retail, with discounts for large orders and tailored specifications. Surface finishing options: Hot-dip galvanized, pre-galvanized, or coated with anti-corrosion paint can affect price. Factors Affecting Price Load Capacity: Trays supporting higher cable loads (up to 300 kg/meter) are priced higher. Tray Type: Ladder-type, perforated, or channel-type designs have different manufacturing costs. Environmental Resistance: ZAM trays offer exceptional corrosion resistance, especially in coastal, chemical, or humid environments, which can increase cost but extend service life 3-5 times compared to traditional galvanized trays. Customization: OEM or factory-direct trays tailored to specific project requirements may offer cost savings for large-scale orders.
