

Maldives Welding Distribution Box Manufacturer

AI Overview

MIDEX and MECO are key Maldivian companies providing welding equipment and industrial distribution solutions. MIDEX, established in 2008, is a leading retailer and wholesaler of welding equipment, machinery, and raw materials in the Maldives. They are notable for producing durable stainless steel products in-house, tailored to Maldivian designs, which may include custom welding distribution boxes or related enclosures for industrial use. MIDEX also offers portable welding machines and other metalworking solutions, making them a primary local source for welding-related manufacturing and supply. Contact Information: Website: midex.com.mv LinkedIn: MIDEX LinkedIn MECO specializes in industrial infrastructure solutions, including power distribution, switchgear, and complete distribution networks across the Maldives. While they focus on large-scale industrial projects, their expertise in generators, transformers, and distribution systems makes them a potential supplier for welding distribution boxes integrated into broader electrical networks. MECO emphasizes long-term service, quality assurance, and tailored solutions for industrial clients. Contact Information: Website: meco.com.mv Summary For businesses or projects in the Maldives seeking welding distribution boxes, MIDEX is the primary manufacturer capable of producing custom stainless steel enclosures and welding equipment locally. MECO can provide industrial-grade distribution solutions and may supply integrated electrical distribution boxes suitable for welding operations. Contacting both companies directly will help clarify product specifications, availability, and customization options.
