

Paraguayan electrical distribution box manufacturer for sale

AI Overview

Paraguay has several established manufacturers of electrical distribution boxes, including BGA Electric S.A., COMINSA, and Tecno Electric S.A., offering a wide range of certified products for residential, commercial, and industrial applications. Key Manufacturers BGA Electric S.A. specializes in the design, development, and production of electrical cabinets, distribution panels, and cable management solutions. They provide customized projects and a full line of trays, ladders, and electrical boxes, ensuring quality and efficiency for various applications in Paraguay. COMINSA has been manufacturing electrical panels, cable trays, and plastic conduits since 2006. Their products meet IP-65 and IK-10 certifications, and they have a presence in 28 cities across Paraguay. COMINSA offers solutions for residential, commercial, and industrial installations, including panels with embedded neutral and RST+N+T configurations. Tecno Electric S.A., established in 1968, produces and assembles low-voltage distribution panels, motor starter centers, and substation equipment. They comply with international standards and provide solutions for low, medium, and high voltage applications. Tecno Electric also supplies prefabricated concrete poles and substation structures, supporting industrial and infrastructure projects throughout Paraguay. Brasguay focuses on the distribution of electrical materials and the design and installation of complex systems, including substation improvements. With over 38 years of experience, they develop and manufacture advanced products tailored to project requirements. Additional Options Global brands like ABB also have distributors and integrators in Paraguay, offering low and medium voltage electrical distribution products, including wall boxes, panels, and industrial solutions.
