

Price of fiber optic grounding wire in computer room

AI Overview

Fiber optic cable grounding kits for computer rooms typically range from $50 to $150 per kit, depending on cable type and strand count. Grounding Kit Options Corning FDC-CABLE-GRND Designed for armored cables in enterprise networks and data centers. Includes an armored grounding clip and ground strap. Rack-mountable for structured cabling environments. Pricing is generally in the $100-$150 range, though exact cost may vary by distributor and location. Micro Armor Grounding Kits Suitable for 2 through 24 strand Micro Armor fiber optic cables. Includes clamp and grounding strap for quick installation. Typically priced around $50-$100 per kit, depending on vendor and quantity purchased. Installation Considerations Grounding is required for armored or metallic fiber cables to comply with NEC Article 770 and industry standards such as ANSI/TIA-568-C.0 and ANSI-J-STD-607. Dielectric-armored cables may eliminate the need for grounding, potentially reducing costs and installation time. Installation labor for grounding is usually minimal but may vary depending on the complexity of the computer room layout and cable routing. Budgeting Tips For a small computer room with 10-20 armored fiber runs, expect grounding kit costs to total $500-$2,000, depending on kit type and strand count. Purchasing in bulk or through a distributor can reduce per-kit costs. Consider the total fiber infrastructure cost, including cable, grounding, patch panels, and labor. Fiber optic cable materials typically cost $1-$6 per foot, with installation costs varying based on environment and complexity. By selecting the appropriate grounding kit and planning installation carefully, you can ensure compliance, safety, and network reliability while managing costs effectively.
